New rush waves race reforming shores

Different patterned each fresh wash

Ebb and flow re-coaxing change unfolding swift paced seasons new

Old flowing histories glow re-foamed

To bubble-froth delights and times old rugged boat heaves launching out

T'wards horizon's distant stretch

Old mended nets splash cast again

Uncertain now the promise catch the men await largesse from sea they will return with gratitude

We carry forward all the old

Weather-worn enriched by toil challenge crusted tempered lives full flowered through trough and crest of days each battle fought with common dare unscathed not still strong survived new faith dreams beckon us ahead we trust new winds and water depths we trust old hearts and habits learned our lives in ever caring hands.

for all that has been: gratitude for all that will be: "YES!" again!
